Investment Pool Summary
Month Ending October 31, 2016

Monthly Market Update

- Markets experienced headwinds during October as political uncertainty, particularly in the U.S. drew toward its culmination. Uncertainty ahead of the U.S. presidential election and increased expectations of a December interest rate hike by the Federal Reserve (Fed) negatively affected equity and fixed income markets globally. While no action was taken by the Fed ahead of the presidential election, expectations for a December rate hike increased as both U.S. economic growth was better-than-expected and inflation expectations increased. Emerging markets equities experienced positive, albeit subdued, performance, while domestic and developed international equities experienced losses.
- Fixed income markets declined as government bond yields across the globe increased in anticipation of the slow unwinding of post financial crisis monetary stimulus. Returns across all investment grade sectors were negative for the month; however, corporate credit outperformed Treasuries. High yield, which is less correlated to changes in interest rates than other sectors, was the only sector to experience gains.
- Broadly, real asset markets were negative in October with the Bloomberg Commodity Index (-0.5%) and Dow Jones Global Listed Infrastructure (-3.6%).

NOTES TO HYPOTHETICAL INFORMATION

This material contains certain hypothetical performance and portfolio information. No representation is made about the overall hypothetical portfolios or their suitability or potential benefits for any client or investor and no advice or recommendation is given with respect to such hypothetical portfolios and are included for illustration purposes only. The hypothetical portfolios do not represent actual client or investor accounts. Hypothetical information, including hypothetical performance results, has many inherent limitations. They are generally prepared with the benefit of hindsight, may not involve financial risk or reflect actual trading or asset allocations for any portfolio and therefore do not reflect the impact that economic and market factors may have had on the manager's or advisor's investment decisions for that portfolio. In fact, there are frequently sharp differences between hypothetical results and the actual record subsequently achieved. No representation is made that such portfolio's performance would have been the same as such hypothetical results had the portfolio been in existence during such time.
